The Discovery Of The Truth

Once in the city of Nowhere, lived a man named *Truth.*One day, he said to the universe “Master, who am I?”,Truth had forgotten who was he. His master said “I am you, you are me”, Truth didn't understand it. Nothing came there and said to Truth “I am the creator of your master and you, my presence distroys and my absence creates. I created bot of you, you both are under me. There's no difference ”, Something joined the conversation “Egoist Nothing, you don't even exists! I created the universe!” said Something in rage. Everything told Something “It's true that you created me, I came from you. But the existence of us can be denied because of Nothing, our presence denies the existence of Nothing. That's why we are unknown to him and he's unknown to us.” Nothing said “I am mysterious, and maybe Something creates Everything, but I created Something ”. Truth puzzled he screamed “Who Am I?!”, Something told Truth “Truth, you are Onething that is me”, Everything said “I am that Onething too, but lies confused the Truth about his own existence” Nothing said to everyone “We're all Onething”, Universe said “Yes that's the truth”. False came there said “I am the Truth”, Something yelled “You're not! Onething never change and Onething is Truth! You always changes with time and you are everywhere!”, hearing that False disappeared, the city of Nowhere and it's people disappeared too. Including Universe, Everything, Something but Truth and Nothing didn't disppeared

--Ansh Pundir's Creation